Physical. Mental. Social Well-Being.

50th ANNIVERSARY 1976-2026

Dear Community Friend,

As Meridian Health Services celebrates its 50th anniversary, we reflect with pride and gratitude on the remarkable journey that has brought us to this milestone. What began as a commitment to meeting the mental health needs of our communities has evolved into a comprehensive, whole-person approach to mental, physical, and social determinants of health that continue to make a meaningful difference in the lives of individuals and families.

As we celebrate this milestone, I invite you to consider an important question:

How has Meridian improved the health of the communities we serve?

The answer can be found in the countless lives touched throughout our 50-year history. It can be seen in individuals and families who have gained access to compassionate, quality health care, regardless of their circumstances. In patients who are better able to manage chronic conditions through ongoing treatment and preventative care. In children, seniors, veterans, and individuals in rural and underserved communities who have access to services and support that make healthier lives possible.

These are more than healthcare services. They are opportunities to improve lives, strengthen families, and build healthier communities.

As we look ahead to the next 50 years, our commitment remains steadfast. Health care will continue to evolve, presenting new challenges and opportunities. Through responsible stewardship, innovation, and strong community partnerships, Meridian will continue working to meet the changing needs of those we serve.

Our success has never been ours alone. It is made possible by the dedication of our employees, the trust of our patients, and the support of community partners who share our belief that everyone deserves access to quality, “whole-person” health care.

Together, we have built a legacy of caring for our communities. Together, we will continue to strengthen that legacy for generations to come.

Thank you for being a part of Meridian’s first 50 years and for helping us shape the future of “whole-person” health.

Seth Warren

What Makes Meridian Different

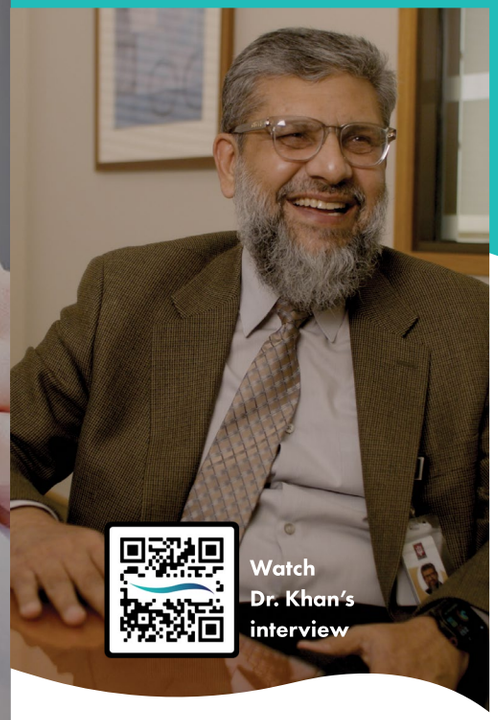

In 1976, Meridian Health Services was just beginning. A small team in a small office in Muncie was at the start of what would later impact thousands of lives in meaningful and important ways.

At the time, Meridian was known as Comprehensive Mental Health Services providing outpatient services such as therapy, counseling, and psychiatry for patients in Delaware, Jay, and Henry counties. Organizations like Meridian, known as Community Mental Health Centers (CMHCs), were created by the federal government to ensure everyone had access to behavioral and mental health services—even those who were unable to pay or uninsured.

Over the years, Meridian continued to expand its service offerings to include group homes, foster care services, addictions and recovery, as well as family and children services.

A constant throughout Meridian's history of change and rapid growth has been its ability to chart its own path and lead in providing progressive health services. In 2002, many CMHCs were in decline. However, Meridian was a leader in mental and behavioral health services in the state of Indiana and began to seek a new way—a better way—to care for its patients.

Meridian asked the question: what if instead of caring for just one part of the person, we focused on the whole person?

Watch
Dr. Khan's
interview

"'Whole-person' health is not a new concept," Dr. Sarfraz Khan, Chief Medical Officer at Meridian Health Services, explained. "It's as old as human beings on earth. If my eyes are hurting, I cannot sleep. If I have pain in my leg, I cannot run. We are all integrated."

"Whole-person" health became the company mantra, leading Meridian to introduce a broad spectrum of health services including primary medical care, behavioral health, and social services.

In 2010, Meridian opened MeridianMD, Indiana's first behavioral health organization to offer primary medical care services. Two years later, Meridian became the first CMHC in Indiana to receive Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC) status. This status is what sets Meridian apart and has allowed Meridian to grow from a small community mental health center serving three counties, to one of the state's largest healthcare providers offering primary medical care, dental care, women's health OB/GYN, pharmacy services, pediatric care, therapy and counseling, psychiatry services, addictions and recovery, and so much more often under one roof.

Dr. Lucille Larson, Pediatrician and Pediatrics Chair at Meridian Health Services, sees daily the impact of comprehensive care.

"For example, Anne, a new mother with a young infant lacking resources and suffering postpartum depression comes to me for the first time. I examine the child and reassure mom they are doing well. At this time, I can call a Community Health Worker to provide additional resources like diapers and formula, and even a provider for mom at Meridian Women's Health to get care and counseling to aid her depression. In two weeks, the mother comes back smiling and feeling accomplished."

This is the difference "whole-person" health offers. Dr. Larson continued:

"Sometimes the benefit of integrated care is in the eyes of the patient, feeling supported in a whole new way and responding to many needs sets the mind on a path toward feeling the opportunity of change, and then the support required to accomplish that change towards better health."

Meridian's healthcare services are available to all. Access to health care is a pillar of FQHCs and ensures anyone can receive care regardless of their ability to pay.

Over the past decade, Meridian has provided $42 million in charity care to more than 44,000 people who were unable to pay.

The difference this makes in communities across Indiana is profound.

Every day before lunch, 11-year-old Carter visits Meridian's School-Based Health Clinic for help managing his diabetes. Before the School-Based Health Clinic, managing his diabetes caused anxiety for both Carter and his parents. Now Carter moves with confidence, receiving a blood sugar check, a snack adjustment, and reassurance from a nurse he knows and trusts.

Without access to Meridian, Carter and children like him, would not receive the care they need. For many families, these clinics are the difference between staying healthy in the classroom and ending up in the emergency room.

These are real children, real families, real lives impacted by the services Meridian provides.

FQHCs have long been considered a "community safety net," providing essential care to vulnerable and underserved patients who might otherwise go without. Meridian plays this vital role by serving individuals with complex healthcare needs, including Medicaid recipients and people experiencing serious mental illness (SMI), substance use disorder, or co-occuring conditions.

A particular focus for Meridian is its commitment to serving rural communities and ensuring local access to care. Many hospitals have "divested" and closed rural clinics – especially in rural northern Indiana – due to these clinics not being financially viable. As an FQHC, Meridian receives a higher reimbursement rate, so it is able to be that community safety net. Therefore, at a time when many of these communities faced losing access to health care, Meridian stepped in and invested financially and operationally to help keep these clinics open, ensuring residents could continue receiving quality health care close to home.

Jeana is 18 weeks pregnant. For months, she's trusted the same Meridian doctor who knows her history, eased her fears, and caught complications early enough to protect both her and her baby. Without Meridian, Jeana would be forced to find a new provider farther away and unfamiliar with her care and her story. For many mothers on Medicaid, prenatal care is more than just appointments or another item on a list to check off. It's trust, stability, and peace of mind during one of life's most vulnerable moments.

Watch Rony's interview

"THEY WON'T JUDGE YOU. THEY'LL HELP YOU FIND YOUR SKILLS."

—Rony, Meridian Patient

Rony, a Meridian patient, was diagnosed with schizophrenia in the eighth grade after years of hospitalizations, medications, voices, and visions. When another counselor could no longer help, he found Meridian Health Services.

At first skeptical, Rony realized Meridian wanted to help without taking away his independence. His therapist and skill builder met him where he felt comfortable – even walking through Walmart or taking drives – while teaching coping and recovery skills. Together with case management, they created a support system he could rely on.

"They meet you where you're at," Rony says. "They won't judge you. They'll help you find your skills."

Fifteen years later, Rony manages his schizophrenia, lives independently, pays his bills, works, and has friends. He hopes to work with law enforcement, helping officers respond compassionately to people experiencing mental illness.

"Not all of us are violent," he says. "We just need help." Meridian gave Rony stability, independence, and a future.

…but without Meridian,

It is stories like Anne's, Carter's, Jeana's, and Rony's that truly show the impact Meridian is making on real lives, every day. Without FQHCs like Meridian, the effect on communities across Indiana, and on the people who rely on these services, would be devastating.

- Emergency rooms would be overburdened. Patients without insurance or the ability to pay would go to hospital emergency rooms for basic care creating longer wait times for everyone. This leads to unpaid medical bills that hospitals would have to absorb, raising costs across the entire healthcare system.

- Illness and disease would be left untreated due to people skipping routine checkups and screenings. Chronic illnesses are left untreated due to losing access to regular medication and monitoring.

- Rural and underserved urban areas would become medical deserts. Often, FQHCs are based in areas where options are limited financially, geographically, or due to clinics not being able to accommodate medically complex patients. Vulnerable groups like children, senior citizens, and veterans could lose this lifeline of care.

Mobile Dental Unit Impacts Local Schools

For the first time, Meridian Dental hosted "Dental Days" within local schools, launching its new mobile dental unit. The new mobile dental unit allows patients to receive a cleaning and an exam with a dentist without needing to travel to a traditional dentist office. Within the first few months of its launch, Richmond's Mobile Dental Team provided 200 exams and cleanings for students at Richmond Community Schools within the Wayne County area. Mobile dentistry represents a transformative step for Meridian, allowing clinicians to travel to rural and hard-to-reach communities that otherwise face transportation barriers or limited provider availability. By bringing preventative care into classrooms, Meridian is not only treating dental concerns earlier, but also reinforcing healthy habits at the moment they matter most.

Chiropractic Care Now Offered at MeridianMD in Muncie

In February 2026, Meridian broadened its clinical offerings with the launch of chiropractic services. Offered within the MeridianMD – Family Medical Care clinic in Muncie and across the street from Meridian Health Pediatrics and Prime-Time Urgent Care, chiropractic services are a unique offering that new and existing patients can use in coordination with their primary medical care provider. This addition reflects a growing recognition that musculoskeletal health plays a critical role in overall wellness. By incorporating chiropractic care into its integrated model, Meridian strengthens its ability to treat patients holistically – addressing pain management, mobility, and physical alignment alongside primary medical and behavioral health services.

Pharmacy Services Expand in Fort Wayne and Muncie

To further improve continuity of care for patients, Meridian Health Rx opened new pharmacies in Muncie and Fort Wayne to strengthen medication access, coordination, and cost savings. By integrating pharmacy services within the broader healthcare system, Meridian enhances patient convenience, improves adherence to treatment plans, and supports better health outcomes. Medication management is often a challenge for patients, but offering an in-house pharmacy allows Meridian to break down that barrier and further integrate care through easy direct in-office pickup, delivery, and streamlined communication between pharmacists and providers.

A Commitment to Rural Access to Care

Meridian remains committed to expanding access to care and in 2026 opened its first clinic in Montpelier, Indiana. With a population of under 2,000 people, this Blackford County town has seen hospital closures that force residents to travel long distances for basic medical care. Through a partnership with Blackford County, MeridianMD – Family Medical Care clinic opened in early 2026 offering local treatment for chronic conditions, illness visits, routine physicals, wellness assessments, and referrals to Meridian's broad spectrum of behavioral and social health services. This expansion is part of Meridian's mission to create healthier communities and a consistent strategy: reduce travel burdens, eliminate barriers, and bring high-quality care directly into underserved areas.

Fiscal Year 2026 Highlights: Mental Health

Speaker Visits Schools with Anti-Bullying Message

Fabian Ramirez inspired middle school students with his anti-bullying message to stand up, speak out, and believe in their potential. Ramirez is the second speaker in Meridian's recently revamped Meridian Community Health Speaker Series – School Assembly that brings in speakers to share relevant messages for local middle school students. This year's events impacted over 2,000 students at Richmond Community Schools and Muncie Community Schools.

New Meridian Home With Hope - Men's Facility Opens

A new Home With Hope recovery facility for men opened in May 2026, providing an updated space designed with residents and a smooth re-entry into the community in mind. Located in Lafayette, Home With Hope is a 120-day recovery program facility offering on-site case management, life skills and financial planning support, employment readiness opportunities, individual and group counseling, and recovery coaching. This facility was made possible in part by grant support from North Central Health Services (NCHS).

Mission-Based Events Continue to Make a Big Impact

Meridian's mission-based events are rooted in collaboration, offering services and programs to children and families who may otherwise go without.

Meridian Becomes Sponsoring Agency for Northeast WIC Program

Meridian became the sponsoring agency for the WIC (Women, Infants, and Children) Program in Northeast Indiana at the end of 2025, when a new sponsor was needed. This commitment expands access to vital nutrition and health services for families in Adams, Blackford, Jay, Wells, Randolph, and Huntington counties.

With 50 years of service, Meridian is uniquely positioned to support WIC participants as an integrated healthcare system offering "whole-person" health. By serving as the WIC sponsoring agency, Meridian strengthens its role as a community health leader in Northeast Indiana by working closely with local healthcare providers, community organizations, and social service partners.

Meridian Navigators Guide Patients Through a Complex Healthcare System

Insurance navigation is a key part of Meridian's integrated healthcare services, helping patients apply for and maintain benefits such as Medicaid, Medicare Savings Programs, Social Security Disability, and SNAP. Navigators guide patients through applications, work directly with FSSA, submit documentation, advocate on patients' behalf, and assist with appeals when needed.

In summer 2026, navigators also helped Anthem Medicaid patients transition coverage by answering questions, assisting with Managed Care Entity (MCE) changes, filing Continuity of Care requests, and connecting patients with new providers.

Over the past year, Meridian insurance navigators completed 1,032 health coverage applications and provided 2,885 additional patient assists.

Crisis Intervention Training Helps First Responders in Henry County

Through a strong partnership among Meridian Health Services, National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI), ARIES of Henry County, local courts, mental health agencies, and law enforcement organizations, Meridian Health Services' New Castle team has expanded Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) training to strengthen community crisis response.

Over the past two years, more than 50 law enforcement officers, EMTs, and probation staff have completed the 40-hour training program. Participants receive education on mental health, trauma-informed care, crisis response, and self-care, while also hearing from individuals with lived experience to foster empathy, reduce stigma, and strengthen community connections.

Thank you to all of our generous supporters and donors for helping make Meridian's programs and services available to all who are in need.

Educational Events Inform Medical Experts on Importance of "Whole-Person" Care

Through a strong partnership with Indiana University School of Medicine, Optimus Primary, Ball Brothers Foundation, IU Health, and Center for Continuing Professional Development, Meridian Health Services has expanded access to high-quality continuing education focused on advancing "whole-person" health. Initiated and led by Dr. Khan, Meridian's Chief Medical Officer, the initiative established a structured lunch-and-learn model featuring expert physician presenters and accredited Continuing Medical Education (CME) opportunities. Attendees included physicians, nurses, medical assistants, clinicians, and more in the healthcare field.

The presentations have increased awareness of integrated care approaches and equipped healthcare professionals across a variety of specialties with practical knowledge to better address the physical, behavioral, and social factors that influence patient well-being. Participation has grown threefold since the program's launch, with attendees joining from across Indiana, demonstrating the value and reach of this partnership. Continued support from Ball Brothers Foundation grant funding has ensured the initiative remains focused on its original purpose: strengthening healthcare integration and advancing "whole-person" health for patients throughout the communities served.
